HERRIN SHERIFF TOLD TO ENFORCE LAW

WAR AGAINST KLAN POLITICAL "LAST STAND," IS CHARGE

WALTON COVERING FAILURE BY FRANTIC BID FOR FAVOR, CLAIM.

IS UP TO PUBLIC Stockade and Bayonets for Legislators, Threat of Oklahoma Governor.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Oklahoma City.—A signed statement declaring that Governor J. C. Walton has made the Ku Klux Klan "the peg on which a political habitude has hung the tattered habiliments of grotesque failure while making his last frantic bid for public favor" was issued to the Associated Press here today by N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Klan in Oklahoma.

Klan Growing Fast. Mr. Jewett declared that, "despite the insidious inroads to Klanism in the effort of protection if they would withdraw from the order, we have been enjoying a record-breaking growth in membership in the past few days."

He asserted that the Klan "is not going to fight back now" and would leave it to the "people of Oklahoma to settle the fight."

Would Forestall Charges. To forestall charges that the extraordinary session of the Oklahoma legislature called to assemble Wednesday is a "Klan legislature" a committee of seven state representatives issued a statement today in which they declared they advocated "a law prohibiting the wearing of masks of masked assemblies and of several penalties for any floggings or mob violence of any form."

The governor who is still confined to his home by a slight cold has stated that he would build a stockade and put them in it and keep them surrounded with bayonets.

JEFFERSON SCHOOL HIT BY LIGHTNING

Fire in Cupola Extinguished by Timely Action of Barrett, Janitor.

Timely action on the part of George Barrett, school janitor, saved the Jefferson school from serious damage Thursday morning when the cupola was set on fire by a bolt of lightning which struck at 8:30 o'clock, a half hour before the bell calling the children to their class rooms would have been sounded.

Hearing the bolt strike, Barrett rushed from the second floor into the dark passageway over the training school which leads to the cupola. Seeing the electric wires aflame, he hurried downstairs, told Principal Frank J. Lewis to call the fire department and then extinguished the blazing wires and that portion of the side of the wooden cupola set on fire by the bolt.

Teachers' Arms Rumbled. When the fire department arrived three minutes later, the fire was out. Little damage was done, and fortunately the children were not in the building. Teachers and rural normal school students were the only ones in the building.

Teachers said they saw streaks of blue flame through the building and rural normal school teachers saw a ball of fire outside. It defied those in the building and numbered the arms of several teachers.

Need of better fire protection for the schools was emphasized by the occurrence Thursday morning, authorities declared. There are but two fire extinguishers in the building and no fire alarm. Mr. Barrett asked Sup. F. O. Holt after the fire for a third extinguisher, which may be placed in the cupola. He had to carry one from the second floor to extinguish the fire. The fire department was called by telephone, as the nearest boxes are at Second and East streets, and Third and East streets.

"We saved 10 minutes by calling the department on the telephone," said Mr. Barrett.

VICTOR H. ARNOLD IS FOUND GUILTY OF FRAUD CHARGE

JURY CONVICTS FORMER BOND CO. HEAD ON 11 COUNTS.

APPEAL PLANNED Motion for New Trial Will Be Made by Attorneys for Defense.

[BULLETIN.] Superior, Wis.—A telegraphic message from C. A. Chinnel, Chicago, who furnished the $25,000 bond for Victor H. Arnold, received here this noon, called on Joseph L. Butler, Chicago, assistant defense counsel, to surrender Arnold to the authorities. The message has somewhat interfered with the plans laid by the defense counsel for the continuance of the case until the October term of federal court at Madison, to give the defense an additional time to prepare and argue several motions.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Superior.—Victor H. Arnold, president of the defunct Madison Bond company, was found guilty of 11 out of 26 counts in the federal indictment charging him with using the mails to defraud by a jury in United States district court here last night. Defense counsel indicated that the final appeal, a motion for a new trial, would be based on an alleged error in computing the jury. The defense alleges that the jury was paneled on the supposition that the crime being charged was a felony.

The verdict, returned at 9:55 p. m. Wednesday, was the result of deliberation since 2 p. m. in the afternoon. The defendant received the verdict with outward calm. It was the first of three alleged schemes on which the jury found the defendant guilty. By the terms of the indictment, Arnold had sold the Madison Bond company collateral bond bonds, series No. 48 to 54, inclusive, to the defendant. The indictment contained the charge that the collateral bonds were in many cases defaulted and worthless.

The second alleged scheme, for which Arnold was found not guilty, revolved around the exchange of the stock of the Madison Bond company for the stock of the defendant, which was charged that Arnold, while representing himself in circles to be a wealthy man, was in reality practically penniless and unable to meet these notes.

Skunk Letter Involved. The third and last alleged scheme was that of calling on the bond holders to exchange their bonds for Arnold's personal five-year notes. In this scheme the skunk letter, which was sent to the holders of the company by Arnold and describing Marshall Cousins, then state banking commissioner, as a "skunk" letter, was used. The skunk letter, which was a prominent part of Arnold's defense, was found not guilty of this scheme.

It was announced today by Lieutenant-Commander Leslie Bratton, judge advocate of the court.

The following day she was removed to a hospital and died Saturday as the result of acute pleurisy. The report says the girl was delicious when she talked to her father and the marks on her body were the result of hydropneumonic injections and of an autopsy performed with the father's permission.

START CLEARING AWAY THEATER RUINS THIS WEEK

TO BEGIN SATURDAY IN PREPARATION FOR NEW STRUCTURE.

QUIZ PROCEEDS Investigators Gather in Architects' Office After Survey—Injured, All Recovering.

As the funeral of Claude E. Cochran, Janesville plumbing contractor, sole victim of the Saxe theater collapse, was being held, arrangements for the reconstruction of the theater and searching inquiries into the cause of the collapse were being made.

Engineers and contractors called by the S. W. H. Co. met at the theater ruins Wednesday, and Thursday afternoon a meeting was being held in Milwaukee.

E. M. Wilcox, of the Wisconsin industrial commission, said over the telephone Thursday noon that he could give no data of the hearing or investigation into the accident, that he was not sure there would be one. Mr. Wilcox had just returned from out of town and the reports of the inspectors from the office had not been made to him.

Inquiry Delayed. "All I know about it is what I have read in the newspapers," Mr. Wilcox said. "I do not know whether the hearing will be held as I have not received the reports from my deputies. Generally, responsibility for such things can be fixed from an examination of the building without a formal hearing. If this is not sufficient in this case, a hearing probably will be held."

When the inquiry by Rock county is held in dependence upon the findings of the industrial commission, as the county authorities do not want to call in witnesses to give their opinions until they have accepted the findings of the commission.

Start Cleanup Saturday. Announcement was made Thursday by Mr. Willis that the Saxe Bros. have tentatively decided upon the plans for reconstruction of the theater, and these will probably be made public Friday or Saturday.

Working on the remains of the side walls of the theater and clearing away the debris which lies in the enclosure and in neighboring yards probably will be started Saturday, Mr. Willis said.

The work is not expected to take more than 10 days, and the construction crew will be working on the theater, and steel shipments are made promptly there will not be a delay of more than six or seven weeks in the opening of the theater, the Janesville contractor said.

Architects View Ruins. Mirand and Herbert Bulgren, of March Tullgren and Sons, Milwaukee architects, who were called to the scene, and Thomas and Fred Saxe of Saxe Bros. were in Janesville Wednesday afternoon and another inspection of the building was made.

The examination centers in the corner where the steel beams first gave way. Mr. Willis stated, "We examined every bolt and nut, and we were not able to find anything which would indicate the cause of the collapse. We have had three engineers and several contractors examine it."

Willis Urges Probe. It was expected that the meeting Thursday afternoon in the Bulgarian offices in Milwaukee, which Mr. Willis attended, would take the form of an internal board of inquiry. That he intends to demand thorough investigations on the part of the county, and the industrial commission into the cause of the collapse, was emphasized by Mr. Willis.

Steel Columns in New One. One thing is certain concerning the reconstruction of the new theater. The structure will be so erected to avoid any possibility of the collapse of the steel beams for the roof resting on the walls, they will be bolted to steel shafts which will be erected.

Although 48 hours has elapsed since the roof crashed to the ground and the brick walls crumbled, the wreckage with its twisted steel beams and twisted steel shafts, which were bolted to the walls, are being repaired as quickly as possible. Men went to work Wednesday afternoon clearing away the debris and tearing away the splintered roof.

Injured Men Recovering. The three of the four injured men who remain in the hospital are recovering and probably will leave Mercy hospital in a few days. They are: A. M. Schilling, Moline, Ill., and Frank Eurdick and William H. Janesville.

Damage done to the boiler room of the Troy Laundry, on South Jackson street, the roof of which was caved in when the Saxe theater collapsed, is being repaired as quickly as possible. Men went to work Wednesday afternoon clearing away the debris and tearing away the splintered roof.

FATHER SUICIDES AFTER MURDERING FAMILY WITH AX

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Alexandria, Minn.—Inquiry by police which continued throughout the night had failed to reveal any motive early today for the killing of Mrs. J. J. Willis, Knox and her two daughters, Dorothy, aged 10, and Virginia, aged 8, by the father, who attacked the family members with an ax while they lay asleep in the family home, sometime after midnight Wednesday, and then committed suicide by hanging himself to beams of an unfinished room in the second story of the residence.

Found Late Wednesday. The tragedy was not discovered until late Wednesday, when a neighbor called at the ill-fated home, after repeated knocking at the door, the neighbor heard a faint groan and, calling assistance, an entrance was forced into the house.

Mrs. Knox was found dead in one bed chamber, with an ugly wound in her head, and the two girls were found in an adjoining room, Dorothy dead and Virginia fatally injured. She died several hours later at a hospital.

Was Respected Citizen. Search then disclosed the lifeless body of the father, hanging from a beam in an unfinished room in the second story of the home. The ax, with which the victims met death, was found slung away in a corner of the basement.

Mr. Knox was 40 years old. He had recently been elected superintendent of the Sunday school of the Congregational church of Alexandria and stood high in the estimation of his fellow townsmen.

It's a fine menu of good things that will be presented for readers of the Gazette in the Saturday and Sunday paper.

Have you been reading the Sunday School lessons by William J. South-ern? It makes no difference whether you go to Sunday school or not or whether you are interested in the bible or not, you will be struck by the treatment of these subjects by the author, a newspaper man, of Missouri. Take last week's story of the reporter, Luke, and the story of the fighting Stephen. This week another interesting character in the list of bible people will be the subject.

A stirring episode in the new series "The Waggon Wheel," this week.

Are you interested in football? Get the Gazette every day and cut out the lessons by Sol Metzger. They are worth a lot to any football player.

VICE UNCHECKED County Supervisors Order Action; Klan Involved With Opponents.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Marion, Ill.—The board of supervisors of Williamson county, the scene of the Herrin mine killings, in a resolution adopted Thursday asserted "the people are becoming alarmed, and serious trouble seems imminent which is liable to break out at any moment." The resolution was in connection with alleged laxity in law enforcement and the feeling said to exist between members of the Ku Klux Klan and the Knights of the Planning Circle, an anti-Klan organization.

The resolution demanded stricter enforcement of laws, particularly the prohibition law, and members of the board promised the personal co-operation to Sheriff George Galligan in raids.

The resolution declared a road house and resorts were opening openly in the county. Attempts to burn a store and residence in Herrin, owned by proponents of prohibition, were made a fortnight ago, but little damage was done. So far no arrests have been made.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY, OCTOBER 9

Governor Sets Date for Campaign Against Flame and Accident.

Madison—Governor Blaine today proclaimed Tuesday, October 9, as Fire and Accident Prevention day throughout Wisconsin, urging that people "eliminate the cause of fire and accident, concentrated thought to this problem of waste and its economic results."

The governor's proclamation, which follows a similar one issued last year, calls for Wisconsin amounts to nearly $10,000,000 and from 75 to 100 lives.

"Fire respects neither man, thing or place," the proclamation says. "It is an enemy which never sleeps, it destroys the resources of field and forest, the products of human labor, the palace and cottage, the shop and factory, it takes labor and employment, it takes waste cities and country, it calls for thousands of human victims each year, mostly women and children, it always wastes and never creates, save smoke and ashes."

Great Annual Waste

"Nearly ten million in property and services are lost each year by human fires is the annual toll Wisconsin pays to the fire fiend. Neither lives nor property can be brought back by the payment of insurance. Fire is a constant drain upon our resources, it raises costs, and places a heavy tax upon individuals, municipalities and the state."

"Most fires are preventable, so this sacrifice of life, limb and property becomes especially lamentable. It is more and more, we give at least one day of sober concentration thought to this problem of waste, and its economic results."

"For those reasons, I, John J. Blaine, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby designate and proclaim Tuesday, the Ninth Day of October, 1923, as Fire and Accident Prevention Day."

"I earnestly recommend that on this day special exercises be held in all public, private and public meeting places, seriously to consider the needless waste of property, lives and manpower, through fire and accidents, and the best methods of prevention."

Eliminate Hazards

"I urge that the week beginning Oct. 8 be devoted to the elimination of fire hazards in homes, factories, stores and public buildings, such well-planned movement to be under the direction of municipal authorities, commercial employers and fire fighters, and that the press, the pulpit and the school give their full aid to make such movement a success."

"I further urge that on October 9, factories employ a considerable number of workers conduct a fire drill, and that at all times, the teachers in our public, private and parochial schools observe the provisions of state law requiring monthly fire drills and definite instruction in fire and accident prevention."

BADGER BUSINESS CONDITIONS SOUND

Autumn Alertness Felt in State; Exports Only Uncertain Feature.

Madison—The clouds of summer dullness and inactivity are readily giving way to fall alertness in all lines of Wisconsin's varied, progressive activities, according to Francis W. Dickey, economist of the First Wisconsin National bank here.

The renewed endeavors in production of the last thirty weeks have been stimulated, he said, because buyers have the courage to order understanding that consumption is large and the stockpiles with the approach of colder weather.

Conditions Are Good.

"Business conditions as a whole are sound," Mr. Dickey said, "but elements of weakness are being felt in the conduct of business in a period of expansion such as we have experienced. These have, however, been exaggerated and the elements of strength have been almost never happened that a major decline in business has come while the credit situation was still strong. The market for Wisconsin's products is the chief contributing factor to business disintegration."

"The uncertain outlook for exports is the depressing factor in business just now. A settlement between France and Germany, followed by reorganization of German finances would have a favorable effect upon wheat as well as upon other American export products."

The farmer has reasons for rejoicing the outlook for livestock and dairy products has become more reassuring recently.

Better Equilibrium.

"The price of portland cement has taken a fair step toward a greater equilibrium between corn and hogs. The high prices for corn and the low prices for hogs were unfavorable to all farmers last year."

"Prices for good beef steers have advanced steadily in the last month and are now reaching a new top price for the year."

In regard to employment, Mr. Dickey said that during July and August, employment, as measured by the number of men employed, had increased and wage advances became less frequent.

Slighting the railroad situation, Mr. Dickey said, "The railroads, since before the war, have been operating at a loss. Few people realize the value in the railroads of the country. The railroads are being sold for the difference between getting goods to market in good condition and when they are broken and getting them there when the markets are congested and prices depressed."

The $1000 insurance policy, which does not include cloudy weather, a certain amount of rain must fall between 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. before the insurance company is liable. A number of local couples participated in the "boogie" run Monday.

"Any essential changes in the present system, or any other arrangement, will be made at the hearing. Citizens interested in the highway program are invited to be present and present their views."

MELROSE OFFERS NEW THEORY FOR ORGANIC ANALYSIS

The Rev. J. A. Melrose, Janesville, has a 10-page article in the September number of the Psychological Review, edited at Princeton university, which offers a new theory for organic analysis. The article is entitled "The Organic Setting of the Problem of Thinking." It is one of a series which he is writing.

It seems he is offering a new scientific theory which he calls "The Organic Setting of the Problem of Thinking," and which he contends is the correct scientific theory for the analysis of all organic beings. He maintains that the present day scientific practice is but partial and is essentially an inorganic method, and one ill-suited to organic science. This, he says, accounts for a good deal of the blighting effects of scientific studies, as well as slow progress in distinctively organic sciences. He urges that the method of "organic analysis" approach for organic science will greatly extend the reach of the scientific method.

SPEED, ACCURACY FEATURE REPORT OF SAXE CAVE-IN

Metropolitan newspaper service was given Janesville and southern Wisconsin by the story of the Saxe theater disaster Tuesday and Wednesday.

The pictures of the catastrophe printed on the front page of all editions Wednesday demonstrated again the ultimate service being given Gazette readers. These photos were taken by a staff man of the Rex Photo Service, Janesville. He risked his life in standing on perilous portions of the roof to get the views. He snapped many more than were printed so that a wide selection might be possible.

The prints were rushed through the developing process and were finished by 7 p. m. Tuesday, only a few hours after the dust of the collapse had settled. They were then handed by Gazette's staff to Madison, where an engraving firm worked until midnight turning the "cuts" out for Wednesday's paper.

When the cave-in occurred, two Gazette men were within a block of the scene. They grabbed their cameras and notified the editorial office. Within five minutes, three reporters and two other Gazette representatives were at the scene of the collapse, armed with a high-powered camera. In the office, copy was edited as fast as it came in and seven linotypes put to setting.

Definite news of names and details did not reach the editorial office until 2:30. At 3:30, the story was in the paper, though not in the morning press at the rate of 25,000 an hour.

While searchers still dug in the debris, the Gazette was on the street with the truth and a complete report, containing the possible cause.

By BILLY WINNER.

If I Sold Real Estate—A T ALL times I would have enough money to interest real estate buyers. I would have enough buyers and renters come to me to pay me for my choice list of offerings.

My demand and supply would be on the proper basis. I would get both buyers and sellers through Janesville's Gazette. Want Ads. The Step on the Stair

WHAT HAS GONE HERE? Edgar, Quenton Bartholomew had two nephews named the same, sons of two brothers. One had been absent in Europe for a term of years. He returned to America to make his home with his uncle, here he met another cousin, daughter of the uncle, Orpha, with whom he promptly fell in love only to find that the uncle was understood to be an accepted author. This Edgar and the uncle quarreled. In this house the two nephews and the one daughter, the two male cousins and it was understood that the one marrying Orpha would be the heir to the uncle's large estate. Edgar was in and there is no hope for his recovery. Edgar, who tells the story, spends much of his time in the sick room.

"It is an extraordinary situation in which we find ourselves," commented approaching him where he still stood in the open window. "But there cannot be any real difficulty ahead of us. The thing which is in the state of the uncle's estate is a few. Tomorrow will see this necessary document in hand. Meanwhile, you are the master."

"I said it to try to tell you. Though my tone was a matter-of-fact one he could not but feel the sting of such a declaration from me."

And he did, and fully as much as I expected.

"You seem to think," he said, with a dilation of the nostril and a sudden straightening of his lips which while it lasted made him look older than his age, "that there is something as the possibility of some other person taking that place upon the finding and propagating of the remaining will."

"I have reason to think," he said, "how much reason, Quenton?"

"Only my uncle's word."

"Ah," he was very still, but the shot went home. "And what did he say?" he asked after a moment of silent communion with himself.

"That I was the man."

I repeated these words with as little offense as possible. I felt that no advantage should be taken of his ignorance if indeed he were as ignorant as he seemed. Nor did I feel like wounding his feelings. I simply wanted, no misunderstandings to arise.

"You the man," he said that.

"Those were his exact words."

"The man to administer, his."

Mrs. Lodic Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped his wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same then as I have had since I have done my housework. I would not be without a bottle in the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it has made me well and strong. It is going to be the 'old reliable' with me hereafter, and I am always willing to tell other women how it has helped me. You can use this letter as my word is true."—Mrs. M. Lodic, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 40, Tyrone, Pa.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments as taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

When Sprinkling Clothes—When you have sprinkled clothes in the evening, cover the basket with a heavy blanket and it will be safe to leave the clothes over night, even in warm weather.

Another Use for the Screwdriver—One of the handiest tools in the kitchen is a good-sized screwdriver. To be used to pry lids off sardine cans and shortening cans. It is stronger than a knife, and there is no danger of cutting the fingers.

Save Your House Dressing—When making your dresses for morning wear, buy extra material and make one or more aprons to match. So when you will find that it looks better than an apron of contrasting color or material. When the dress requires mending, the apron, having had about the same amount of washing and wear, will furnish perfectly matching material for needed patches. Try this and you will be pleased with the result.

Save Doughnuts—When you want doughnuts sugared nicely, put in a bag with a little powdered sugar and shake.

Recipe for Medicine Bottles—You will find that a round tin, coffee can makes a good receptacle in which to carry bottles of medicine when traveling. Bury the tin in a box with the cap and cover put on with no danger of breaking the bottles or of the medicine leaking out on other things.

Scouring for Scouring Pans—When scouring blackened cooking utensils use a large cork instead of the dish cloth as the scouring powder will gradually wear out the latter.

Add Vinegar to Fat—When frying doughnuts, add one tablespoonful of vinegar to the kettle of fat. The cakes will be the same, but the fat will not be absorbed so quickly.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

When one sees a grown-up with an ear that is pulled out, out from his head, we know that when he was a baby he had the ear-pulling habit. It is quite common for some babies to keep at one or the other ear until it is misshapen for the rest of their lives. Years of this type are most disfiguring and the habit should be broken as soon as it is begun. To keep the child's arms with paper cuffs at the elbow (a newspaper folded so that it will not bend) will make it impossible for him to reach his ear, and the habit will be broken, for, if, of anything to give his mother.

Thumb and finger sucking can be cured in the same way. Do not keep the arms tied up this way all day, but let the baby begin any of these habits put the cuffs on.

Children sometimes have mania for putting things in their ears or noses—shoe buttons, pebbles, corn of beans. The child's hands should be tied so that the lessons of using them wrongly will be impressed on his mind. Naturally such objects should also be kept out of his reach.

Some children have the nasty habit of eating hair or dirt. In the latter case, such a habit may arise from a lack of interest in their own hands. The only remedy that can possibly do any good, as for those children who have the habit, almost anything that can be pulled from the mouth of the child will satisfy the craving and obviously all of these things are bound to be near the baby. The paper cuffs are of use against the habit, but cannot bend them to get to his mouth.

No matter what the habit, the cure will come when the child's arms are tied up, and with the cuffs the habit by physical restraint, and later by rewards for conscious efforts to overcome it. Spanking is worse than useless.

COMFORTABLE FEET

I can already begin to notice the effect of the new, shock fasteners in my correspondence. At one time, one letter in three either was entirely about foot troubles, or at least mentioned uncomfortable feet and asked about them and bunion treatments. Now there is much less said about them.

It's due to a combination of French and English influences. I think I was one of the first to see the French fashion begin, for back in 1916 the buyer of one of the smartest shoe houses in New York showed me some shoes he had just brought back from Paris. They were shockingly bad shoes, too, heels no one could balance on, short ramps, rounded toes. He copied them, modifying the toe a little, lowering the heel a trifle and every one began buying them in preference to the long ramp, pointed-toe shoes then worn.

English sports shoes began to be worn too, low, of heel, sane of too, though badly formed by our standard of foot making. It was the effect of the war that the reason too was worn, partly because smart women were tiring of points, and sensible ones tiring of discomfort. The low heel won out too. It will live to be different every now and then. So, at last, we're approaching a fashion that is really good looking and healthy. When last in New York, the very best dressed girls wore only these simple, youthful styles. It won't last, of course! But it has years to run yet.

Have you yours? Seek the feet in hot, soapy water, and with a corn knife dipped in antiseptic, shave

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My parents are dead and I am all alone. I have been going with a young man whom I dearly love. He has done everything in his power for me and now the time has come when he has asked me to become his wife. I love him enough so that I know we could be more than happy, but I would rather wait a year or so, as I am not yet 21 years of age and have a good paying position.

My fiancé has a chance of going to business with a partner in another town. It is a wonderful chance, but he will not leave town without me. He has no one but me to go to for company and he knows I would die of loneliness.

I hate to deprive him of a good offer, but I am afraid I am not quite old enough to take the responsibilities as a wife although I have had a great deal of experience. All my life I have been doing housework until, lately, when I finished school, now I have a responsible position.

Someone that I have talked to has told me that married life is just a drudgery and that I had better enjoy my life while I can. But I certainly intend to marry this man for the end, and I think it would be much better now when he has a chance to make good as he might not get such an opportunity later on. It seems to me the sensible way out of your difficulty would be for your fiancé to grasp his opportunity and leave you temporarily. The time would pass quickly and with independence and preparation for the future both of you could be contented for a while. Of course it is unfortunate that this is the only way out, but that is partly your fault and if you look around for friends you can make them easily.

It gets no more to me fair that you should stand in the way of progress for the man you love, but on the other hand he should be reasonable and go with you while he gets his start. Although you are young, it hardly seems to me that is sufficient reason for you to postpone marriage. The real question is whether you are honest with yourself and love the man as much as you say you do.

Do not let cold people spoil your love. It is not rudeness for a man to love his tasks and manages intelligently. If you love the man you marry, you will not be far from happy in your own home than at your present work.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl seventeen years old. I used to have a friend one year older than I am who was in the same year at high school. This girl left school and was married and I did not see her after that until two evenings ago. She and her husband drove up to our house to see me and to bring me a present of their baby. I was very much embarrassed, but I tried to treat them as well as I could. This girl said she was coming again to marry and she would bring her little girl, which she wouldn't come, but I told her an untruth and said I would like to have her.

What would you advise me to do? Is she the kind of a girl people say she is, she doesn't think she can be a friend of mine again. I don't know if I should be up and down in your attitude toward your former friend. If you no longer feel an interest in her, it is not necessary to seek her companionship, but if she comes to your home, it would advise you to be polite and pleasant toward her. People who pretend to be Christians should not turn against a girl because she has made a mistake. They should help her and encourage her in every possible way.

Say it with Flowers. Jacksonville, Fla. Co.—Advertisement.

Getting Too Fat? Try This—Reduce

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you are not, you are not alone. Many of us are too fat, and the fat is not only a nuisance, but it is a danger to our health. It is not rudeness for a man to love his tasks and manages intelligently. If you love the man you marry, you will not be far from happy in your own home than at your present work.

Worth of Used Household Furniture

And Personal Property Must Be Sold in One Day

How to be done? She queried. First I must have the people come to me and there must be many of them, each wanting something.

I might phone my neighbors, but I am not sure that they want what I have and I dislike asking them anyway. Then, too, I must get as much money out of all this furniture as possible for it has by no means lived its full life of usefulness.

Such was the serious problem confronting a housewife who, like many other women, for various and sundry reasons, find it necessary to dispose of their personal belongings.

She found the one sure, quick and satisfactory means of carrying her query to customers, and this is what she did.

For three days—She inserted the advertisement in the classified "Auction" column of the Gazette.

Then she waited patiently for the eventful day to arrive.

It is here—were the people at her home ready to buy, were there lots of them?

Sure enough—the house was packed and Mrs. Blank sold $300 worth of furniture and other personal belongings.

She is a happy lady now, and enthusiastically exclaims, "Your little advertisements are wonders and I am thoroughly sold on their use whenever one desires to sell or buy anything."

The selling story she told was filled with interest, and description which is always necessary to complete successful sales. The more you say the better it will pay.

Commodore Bostwick, Here on Visit, Recalls Trip to Japan as Naval Officer

Visits to Japanese cities when he sailed the Pacific aboard the United States naval vessels were recalled by Commodore Frank Bostwick, U. S. N., retired, in an interview this week at the home of his brother, Robert A. Bostwick, where he has been a guest since Monday. Mr. Bostwick is a half-brother of Sidney Bostwick, and a brother of Mrs. Norman L. Carle and Miss Lucine Bostwick, all of Janesville.

Like others who have based their answers on a knowledge of the race, Commodore Bostwick replied affirmatively to the question of whether Japan will be able to recover from the most severe blow dealt it by earth quake, fire and tidal wave.

Visited Japan in 1901. Commodore Bostwick recalled the earthquake and the which reduced Chicago to ashes. It was predicted on both occasions that it would be 25 years before traces of the disaster would be removed but it took but five years for the two to come back. The former Janesville man believes this will be true of Japan.

Commodore Bostwick landed on Japanese shores from a vessel flying the flag of the United States navy; Commodore Bostwick describes them as impressing him as being "progressive and military people."

Nation of Art. He was especially impressed with their politeness and suave manner. He calls Japan the most delightful place to visit in the world.

"The Japanese are very aesthetical and they have a taste for natural beauty than we in America," said Mr. Bostwick. "This is shown in their art and the correctness of their ideas proved by numerous photographs illustrating the movement of animals are concerned. While we must have a horse assume a graceful pose, the Japanese picture is just as it is. Their love of the picture is shown in their architecture and other things in their life."

Their staid nature and natural elegance and progressive manner will mean much to help them recover soon, Commodore Bostwick believes.

Veteran Loves Janesville. Although it is 23 years since Frank Bostwick, then a boy of 16, made farewell to his playmates with whom he frolicked in the broad prairie south of Court street, he still has fond memories of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, having defeated all others in a competitive examination for the privilege, he still retains a love of the city which is dear to him as his birthplace.

Mr. Bostwick, who has not been here in three years, declared he has seen more of the city in all his travels than Janesville. In the 50 years since he left Janesville, Mr. Bostwick has visited nearly every country in the world with the exception of India, Australia and the southern part of Asia.

33 Years an Officer. His 33 years of service as an officer in the United States navy were in a variety of work from participating in the demonstration that preceded the capture of Manila by the United States, to serving as an assistant light-house for the 10th district.

Asked what was his most thrilling experience, he said the time he almost drowned. That was in 1880, when he was an ensign on board the Lacksawanna. The ship was stationed at Eureka, Peru, during the Chilean-Peruvian war and ended many refugees. He came on board for his watch at 4 a. m. bundled in a heavy overcoat, for the air was cold. He desired to get a better view of the land and stepped over the railing to a platform. Instead he dropped into the water. Mr. Bostwick was not an expert swimmer but managed to keep on top of the water and called for help. A rope was thrown down but it wasn't long enough. Another was thrown down and he grasped it. He was pulled up and held on until assisted on board deck. Aside from being drenched he was none the worse for his experience. A forgetful quartermaster was responsible for the bath.

Record in "Who's Who". Of his record in the United States navy, "Who's Who" gives it as follows: Served on Pacific station and navy yard, Mare Island, California, 1877-1880 and 1881-1883; Asiatic station 1880-1883; on board U. S. S. Charleston during the Spanish-American war 1898; on Charleston, Huntington and Merritt, Philippine station 1899-1901; commanded Nipsie Oct. 1901-May 1904; Philadelphia May-Aug. 1904; Eagle, Sept. 1904-1909; Light-house

Inspector 10th district, Sept. 1906 to June 1908; commanded Buffalo, June 1908 to April 1909; captain navy yard, Portsmouth, June 1909 to July 1910.

Since retiring in 1910, Mr. Bostwick has lived at Philadelphia and in various cities in California and twice toured Europe, with his daughters, the second time in 1914, when they became stranded at Interlaken, Switzerland, with the outbreak of the war. Since the death of his wife in 1912 he has lived with one of his daughters at San Francisco and more recently at Berkeley. His daughter will join him here and they will go east, where one of his grandsons is at Annapolis. They may remain in the east for a year or indefinitely.

NAVAL CRASH FATAL TO ONE

Boston.—One man was killed and several injured when the United States destroyer, the Albatross, was runned by the battleship Arkansas during maneuvers.

The heroism of members of the crew of the destroyer, the Albatross, prevented further loss of life when the destroyer was runned by the Arkansas off Cape Cod, and Spencer W. Brown, second class seaman, was entangled in wreckage and drowned in the flood of oil that poured into the hold as the oil tanks burst open.

Two firemen, R. M. Smith and George Stetson, disregarding their own safety, went to the hold, swimming through oil and water, and made fast a rope by which others caught in the trap were able to make their way out.

School for Blind Reopens With 100

Classes at the state school for the blind started Wednesday afternoon. More than 100 pupils have been enrolled, but the final count not yet been made. There are 20 teachers.

School will be running on regular schedule Thursday morning. All arrangements for classes were made before the school closed last spring.

A nurse, Miss Mae Morgan, has been procured to care for the students. Dr. Barry, who divides his time between the school for the blind here and the school for the deaf at Delavan, will examine every child. Physical examinations started Wednesday and will be completed in about a week.

PLAN FAIR SOLUTION

Washington.—President Coolidge and his advisers will be occupied with the problem of the agricultural situation in the west. Senator Borah of Idaho announced after a conference with the president.

NEW ATTRACTIONS HERE FOR WEEK-END

There will be a great number of attractions to keep one entertained at Janesville over the week-end. Among them will be the following:

Monday.—Thursday sees the first of "The Exalters," with Debo Daniels and Antonio Moreno. The picture is a fast-moving one, with many exciting adventures, and shows the hero and heroine in all sorts of daring stunts. It will continue through Saturday night.

Matinee.—The Friday and Saturday attraction at the Majestic is "The Fourth Deadly Sin," with John Walker. This theater has no programs except on week-ends, and the picture for this week is a good comedy-drama, with an unusual theme.

Apollo.—Thursday sees the last of "Perrod and Sam," that immitable picture of American boyhood. It is true to life, with much of Booth Tarkington's charm retained, and has been well liked by audiences which have filled the theater daily.

An added attraction is the dancing by pupils of Miss E. Josephine Fitzgerald. Comedy will be on the bill for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Don't miss "The Sunshine Trail," starring Douglas MacLean, will be seen. It is of the usual vivacious type that MacLean always makes.

NEGROES SEEKING COOLIDGE'S HELP

Many Delegations Call on President to Learn Stand on Problem.

By DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright, 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington.—On the White House list today appears an engagement for President Coolidge to receive "a delegation of colored women."

This is the first of its kind since the new president took office. The women represent various organizations interested in improving the conditions of the colored race. Ordinarily an engagement like this would not attract attention but lately there has been a noticeable increase in the number of colored leaders visiting the executive offices, more than ever during the Harding administration. The reasons are matters of wide speculation through the general impression is that the colored are anxious to know exactly what the Coolidge administration is willing to do for them.

Recent changes in the assignments and back of the 14 members of the police department have been made by Chief Charles Newman, so that the list now stands as follows:

Night force.—Assistant of Thomas Morrissey and William Ford, driver, at station; August Gersted, east side beat; William Salsby, middle beat; Walter Brock, Academy street, and Charles Dickinson, relief man.

Chief Newman is on duty all day and practically every evening anywhere from 9 to 1 o'clock. Patrolman Leo Lennarz is now on his vacation and probably will be assigned a beat upon his return.

The police are given every sixth day off duty so two men are required to relieve them. Their hours are from 7 to 7, with an hour off for meals. Two weeks' vacation a year with pay is allowed.

TERRILL RETURNS AFTER HEARINGS

L. A. Terrill, Madison, member of the industrial commission, returned to the Capital City Wednesday night, after conducting hearings in the city hall here all day. Five cases arising under the workmen's compensation act, Frank McNamara, Milwaukee, formerly of Janesville, appeared in connection with one of the cases.

ENFORCE BAKERY LAW IN WISCONSIN

Madison.—The Wisconsin law requiring bakers to bake uniform loaves of bread is being vigorously enforced throughout the state. J. Q. Emery, dairy and food commissioner, announced yesterday that the inspectors are prosecuting wherever violations are discovered. The law provides that loaves of bread when sold must weigh either one pound, one and one-half pounds or multiples of one pound, and that no other may be baked. One baker in Beloit recently was found selling loaves of one pound and one-quarter. He was fined in the municipal court and fined $25.

BROTHERHOOD URGES CHRISTIAN TENETS TO GOVERN WORLD

Chicago.—The Christian principle as an arbiter, a purveyor of spiritual, social and economic health and an influence in the perpetuation of brotherhood in all lands, or the world was laid before delegates to the international convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew today, the second of its meetings at the University of Chicago.

Could Strengthen Party. Turning counter to the aspirations of the colored leaders to political power is the movement in the south among white republicans, the same being those white voters who believe in the republican party's principles with the exception of the aversion for the colored men. This thought has been expressed again and again by this faction that were it not for the factor fact there would be an opportunity to build up strong republican organizations in southern states.

C. Bascom Slomp, private secretary to President Coolidge, has been most active in the polls upon occasion and this only tends to improve the chances of the democrats who do get their normal vote to the polls.

Freight Traffic Heavy. Washington.—Freight traffic on American railroads in July of this year was the largest ever recorded for that month, with the exception of 1918 and 1920.

Motor Huggers to Shun Santa Barbara or Land in Hogsbow

Santa Barbara, Cal.—Local police today had the following order, issued by the chief of police, to guide them:

"All officers: You are hereby instructed to arrest any and every one armed driver of an automobile who has his right arm about a girl's waist."

The chief did not explain how a one-armed driver could drive with his only arm around a girl, but policemen said they thought they knew what he meant and would enforce the order to the letter and spirit.

Chief and 14 Men on Police Force

Recent changes in the assignments and back of the 14 members of the police department have been made by Chief Charles Newman, so that the list now stands as follows:
